Norris Gives Notice He Will Later Propose Inheritance Tax as Part of Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 .- Denunciation of the democratic senate caucus as a poitical machine by Senator Hitchcock, one of the democrats who refused to be sound by the caucus on all features of the tariff bid, marked today's reopening of the fight over the income tax.

'Why should senators be expected to be bound by the hasty decisions of a secret caucus on detain of the moome ax?" demanded Hitchcock. "Why should they be expected to vote down every amendment, however good, simply because it comes from the other side of the chamber? Why should the Income tax section not be amended here on the floor of the senate if the bill convinces senators that it should be?"

Senator Hilchcock introduced an amendment, which the caucus had relected for a penalty tax on trusts. It was defeated forty-one to thirty.

The amendment provides for heavy penalty tax on trusts or monopolles controlling more than one-fourth of the country's production or trade in any riven line. Five per cent would be added to incomes of corporations doing from one-fourth to one-third of all business in any given line, 10 per cent for those loing from one-third to one-half and 20 per cent for those above one-half. It would apply to no corporations capitalized at less than $50,000,000 or doing a business of less than $10,000,000 annually.

Senator Hitchcock declared his amendnent had been beaten in the osucus, but he aligned it had not been an open fight

The Last of August

Here we are at the end of the last summer month and, although we may not realize that the early fall serson is at hand we have only to look at the stories told in the advertising sections of The Bee to see that others have realized the date, have planned ahead for it and are now beginning to offer us the results of their foresight. In order not to miss knowing about anything that may be of value to us in the first cool days, we had bett r begin thinking ahead a little, so that when we make our purchases for the change of season we will know what there is for our selection.

It is important to make a practice of reading advertise-ments at all times, but it is especially necessary when the season changes and the shops are filled with new things.
